

Diabetes and Medication

New research is leading the way toward better therapies and improved quality of life for many people with diabetes. Medication can be an important part of your treatment plan. How do you know if and when you need insulin or other medications? The answer depends on which symptoms or complications you're experiencing, your blood glucose levels, and other factors you should discuss with your healthcare team. Have specific questions about medication? Get them answered on our Ask the Pharmacist page.

Learn more about taking care of your diabetes. Join the Living With Type 2 Diabetes program.

Source: <http://www.diabetes.org/living-with-diabetes/treatment-and-care/medication/>